

Achievement

Summer vacation has finished and the 2nd term has started.

All students return to school?

No non-attendance students?

In the newspaper Sep.1 is dangerous day because of many suicide cases.

Perhaps there are some students who have not finished homework.

Teachers order them to finish homework and hand in it.

Perhaps some student cannot solve and finish them.

There is such a student.

What do you do to this student on this case?

I think teacher must decide whether continue to order or not.

If this student study slowly teacher follow him (her).

If this student cannot solve and do not have volition teacher must give him (her) another homework.

This homework is easy and simple that student can do it!

Teachers must give him (her) the sense of achievement.
