

Difference

Last week, I heard high school teachers' talk.

They told about the 3rd grade students.

3rd grade students will proceed to a higher school.

They must decide the university that they want to proceed.

Almost the students who have highest level scholar will try University of Tokyo.

But recently, they, high level students, don't try University of Tokyo.

Instead, they want to try the faculty of medicine.

When I come to think of it, they want to become doctors.

If they graduate University of Tokyo, they are not necessarily to be doctors.

If they want to be elementary school teachers, they study at local educational college.

It may be only High school teachers who believe the value of University of Tokyo.

I think that there is difference between the student's value and teacher's value about university.

Teachers and school may be delayed again from society.
