

Manner

Last day I was stay at Business Hotel in Osaka.

In the morning, I got on an elevator to go to the restaurant.

On the way to 1st stair, two ladies got on an elevator.

At that time, I felt something strange.

They wore pajamas in spite of my formal wear.

And they enter the restaurant to eat breakfast.

At the restaurant, almost person wear formal, but that ladies and another one couple wore pajama.

Oh, dear!

When I was child, I was taught that Hotel is public space without own room, so you go out from room with formal wear. It is international rule, by teachers.

But today, I was surprised that young generations behave that attitude.

Perhaps they were not taught this rule during child. (They don't know this rule.)

So we adult, teachers must teach rules to the child.

Addition

This Hotel has public bathroom.

Guests are admitted to use dressing gown at own room and the way to bath only.
