

Necessary Test

Watching around education, especially school education, it's filled with test.

Ever we experienced some test in a year.

During junior high school 1 or 2 grade, 5 regular tests and 2 ability tests.

But today, there are National achievement examination for 6 grade and 9 grade at compulsory education.

And original achievement examination has taken place by each prefecture, city, town, village.

According to School Education Law enforcement regulations, teachers teach subjects to students on 1015 classes (1 class is 50min).

Oh! Education free from stress!?

I think about that situation.

There are some issue about school education.

Teacher must teach application skill, but students and pupils don't have basic skill.

The most terrible things is that "no basic skill students (pupils)" enter advanced school.

Judging from School Education Law enforcement regulations, school master admits achievement and promotion of students (pupils) by daily grade and result.

So students (pupils) must understand subjects and get skills.

I suggest the system.

"Final Test at elementary school" at 6 grade December.

"Final Test at compulsory education" at 9 grade December.

Both tests are made by basic-basic problem.

Average 80%, so almost students (pupils) gets full marks.

I think "BASIC makes CREATION".
