

Precious One

Perhaps nobody read this sentence because of written by English and a few readers, Hi.

There is a student who has handy capes of intellectual things.

He belongs to special support classroom and sometimes absent from school.

In my impression, he is normal but a little naughty.

I meet him on Sunday or Saturday, he play with friends lived in residence.

But he reacts by some "WORD" and sometimes act violence.

What shall we who live in his neighbor do?

I think that we hold him dear.

We are not teachers but neighbors.

We had better admit him and praise him and call for him.

So we invite him resident activity for example radio-exercise, BBQ, sport-event, shrine festival, etc.

This summer vacation, he takes part in radio-exercise 5times in spite of nothing last year.

Last Sunday we had sport-event, he took part in it.

And we have a small party after it, he join party with good manner.

He has been grown himself and has been good boy.

I think he is one of precious person.
